Full job description

Your new company

A small but state wide recognised Project Manager Consultancy that delivers some of Melbourne largest and best buildings. Projects ranging from $50m-$100m+, commercial, residential towers and hotels. A team of 8 you will be exposed to the full project life cycle of projects and give you the experience for a career in project management.

Your new role

You will be involved in managing projects on behalf of major private developers, investment trusts and other clients, managing the process from concept through design and out to delivery. You will be involved in some of the best Architect practices, Tier 1 or 2 builders and other excellent stakeholders. You will have involvement in dealing with the client, setting and managing expectations, and delivering an outstanding result. You will work collaboratively and deliver success.

What you'll need to succeed

You will be based here in Melbourne with excellent communication skills. You will have a bachelors degree in construction or architecture. You will have a minimum of 6 years post grad experience delivering similar sized projects across similar sectors. You will have dealt with a range of stakeholders on projects. You will be confident to take projects as the leader..

You will be either at the project architect level within an Arch practice, or a project coordinator, project engineer, junior project manager at a buidler.

What you'll get in return

You will get a company brand, and projects on your cv that will set you up for a career in projects management. You will continue to learn the PM space and cement your career on the nicer side on construction, and become a consultant project manager.

Salary $90k- $130k+ super
